

Q. Can you expand on the example areas of focus mentioned in the call for proposals?

A. Below are some examples of work in the focus areas mentioned in the NJHI: Upstream Action Acceleration call for proposals. This list contains only a small number of examples and should in no way be considered an exhaustive list. Also, this list does not represent project ideas that are endorsed by NJHI. These are merely examples to help potential applicants think about potential projects in their communities.

Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs):

Trauma Informed Schools

Trauma Informed Health Care

School-based Trauma Counseling

Learnings from Mobilizing Action for Resilient Communities

New Sector Engagement:

Business

Policies and Programs for Engaging Business Decision Makers

Career Pathways and Sector-Focused Employment Programs

Libraries

How Public Libraries Help Build Healthy Communities

Community of Tucson

Brooklyn Health Information Access Coalition

Law Enforcement

Community-Police Engagement

Louisville, KY

Effective Use of Data Tools and Resources to Guide Actions:

Data Across Sectors for Health Project Spotlights

Civic Engagement:

“Love Your Block”

Communication & Citizen Participation Techniques

Environmental/Open Space:

Green Space & Parks

Urban Agriculture

Medical-Legal Partnerships:

Medical-Legal Partnership for Children

Transportation:

State Smart Transportation Initiative

Traffic Calming Strategies

Examples of other focus areas not specifically mentioned in the call for proposals:

Healthy Food Access:

The Reinvestment Fund's New Jersey Food Access Initiative